The Culpeper Police Department was consistent with the amount of complaints it received from 2007-2008 with 15 complaints a piece during each year. The following three years from 2009-2011 saw a reduction from the 2007-2008 complaints. The three year period from 2009-2011 averaged about 8.3 complaints. However, the agency experienced a 100% increase from 2011 to 2012 when the agency saw complaints double from 8 in 2011 to 16 in 2012. The agency changed its reporting measures in 2012 to capture any complaints that are made. In addition the internal affairs function was the central repository for all complaints. When a complaint came into the agency, it was channeled to internal affairs who then assigned it to a line supervisor if it was a minor complaint, or investigate the matter if it rose to the level of an internal affairs investigation.
